BIG CHAUTAUQUA STARTS MONDAY

Many Buying Season Tickets For A Whole Week of High Class Entertainment.

Richmond's big Redpath Chautauqua opens Monday afternoon, and there appears every assurance that the chautauqua this year will prove a decided success from all standpoints. Season ticket sales are proving satisfactory and with good weather, the big brown tent will prove a mecca for all this season next week.

The program opens Monday afternoon with the Orchestral Sextette giving the first entertainment. This is said to be one of the best musical organizations on tour, and their solos as well as chorus work are said to delight all who hear them.

In the evening, Miss Ada Ward, of London, England, will lecture on "Getting Together." Miss Ward was one of the few women chosen out of all England to entertain the Tommies at the western front. Her message is thrilling.

Capt. Garman, who will be the superintendent in charge of the chautauqua, will arrive today.

Back from the war hospitals of Europe Miss Florence Bullard who was awarded the Croix de Guerre with two stars for "imperturbable bravery under fire," will be here Tuesday in the public health and community welfare campaign. Miss Bullard comes with the sanction of the American Red Cross and her lecture offers a specific answer to the question of what the Red Cross is going to do in time of peace. Her appearance is in line with a new policy of the American Red Cross. This policy includes such vital questions as the public health nurse, home hygiene, home care of the sick and home cooking.

Miss Bullard, who is a graduate of Mayo Brothers' Training School, Rochester, Minn., went to Europe a year before America entered the war and was with the French army. She comes to the platform with a wonderful background of experience gained in her work overseas. She brings her audience the lessons she learned in the great base hospitals in France and of the evacuation station of Chateau Thierry and Argonne.

With regard to the appearance of such speakers as Miss Bullard on the Chautauqua platform, the director of the speaker's bureau of the American Red Cross, says: "They have been brought into contact with hospital service in the care of the wounded and the maimed, but many of them have come into contact with the refugees, the sick, the famished and the tubercular—all sorts and kinds of malnutrition and starvation. It seemed a pity that such peculiar ability as they bring should be allowed to subside at once into ordinary channels of routine nursing. Actively, materially they would be the ideal proclaimers of a new public health gospel, their theories re-enforced tremendous actuality of their war training."

The Great Lakes String Quartet, which accompanied President Wilson on two transatlantic voyages on the U. S. S. George Washington, an which appears on the third of the Chautauqua is a really notable organization.

Following are comments from two well known newspaper which will give a good idea of these talented artists:

"Their playing is a positive delight for their music reaches out and immediately holds one thoroughly interested and absorbed, forgetful to all else but the melodies and the wonderful tone effects. They could easily draw the same hearers and additional admirers were they to appear again the very next day in a program."—Jacksonville Fla. Metropolis

"The Quartet is composed of Herman Felber, first violin; Carl Faschauer, second violin; Robert Dolejai, viola; and Walter Brauer, cello. The performance they gave last night, especially of so elusive and delicate a work as the Debussy quartet, bespeaks earnest preparation, sincere study and attentive rehearsing. The tonal balance is excellent, the color agreeably varied and the technical efficiency of the highest order. In a quartet of the demands placed by Debussy, the mettle of an ensemble organization can best be ascertained and to the credit of the visitors, be it said that their accomplishment was a notable one. There was a sensitiveness in the playing which was of the highest artistic sense."—Cincinnati Enquirer.

A staff of accountants today began footing up the ticket and financial totals of the match.

It was stated in a dispatch that Dempsey had an offer of $7,500 for a two night's vaudeville engagement in Pittsburgh in the event he won.

KEEP OFF LEXINGTON PIKE SUNDAY, PLEASE

Pleasure seekers are certainly co-operating with Road Engineer J. G. Baxter, in his request that the roads which are undergoing a treatment of tarvia, be used as little as possible, in order that this modern idea may have a chance of doing its full work. On the Glorious Fourth when hundreds of autoists motored to Boonesboro, the majority of them complied with the request that they go by the way of the Red House pike, and there were scarcely any cars seen on the Lexington pike. The following letter from Judge Baxter to the citizens is in the form of a request, and everyone should comply. The letter is as follows:

Mr. Saufley:
Please announce to the public that we would like for them to use the Red House pike to Boonesboro pike Sunday and that the Lexington pike will be open for traffic Monday. The Red House pike will be closed for treatment Tuesday morning, and will be completed in two or three days. This program is, of course, predicated on fair weather conditions. Please ask the public to avoid driving in the small pile of gravel on the side of the road.
J. G. BAXTER,
Road Engineer.
